What are Student Ambassadors?

Columbus State's Student Ambassadors are leaders who present a friendly face to campus visitors and the local community; they are dedicated to the positive promotion of the campus and support a sense of community among students, staff and faculty. As a Student Ambassador, participants gain valuable leadership training and money for education expenses. Ambassadors are visible and enthusiastic campus leaders who make a year-long commitment to developing their leadership identity.

HOW TO APPLY TO BE AN AMBASSADOR

Applications for the Student Ambassador Program are available from March to April.

To pick up an application, stop by the Student Engagement and Leadership (SEaL) office in Nestor Hall 116, the SALP office in Nestor Hall 122, or download an application from the SEaL homepage (Campus Life on the CSCC website)
