So here we are: another beginning to another wonderful year. First, a welcome to our newest teacher Sala, she works with the 2nd graders at Providence Glen and has been a great addition to our team! Providence Glen teachers are working hard to push our students towards success and so far this year, we have seen many improvements. Outside of homework, PG students have been working on other important skills by participating in partner reading, math bingo, story writing and computer games!

That’s right; our 5th graders are trying their hand at a class blog. Students will read online articles related to current events and topics that interest them and write a response blog. Currently, our students are writing a response to an article about bullying among students their age.

Providence Glen had a blast at this year’s CHA sponsored holiday party held at Nationwide Arena. The students enjoyed trying their feet at ice skating. Many of our students were ice skating for the first time while others were perfecting their skills from last year! PG also had the opportunity to meet the mascots from the Columbus Crew, Blue Jackets and Clippers! In addition to skating we enjoyed crafts, cookies and of course dancing!

Small Reading Groups

After individually assessing each student’s reading levels, Providence Glen kids have been divided into small reading groups of about 4-5 students. This allows for more individualized and customized reading instruction. The environment provides more of an opportunity for students to express what they know and receive feedback from their peers and the instructor.
