Coming Soon... The DX...
The Discovery Exchange at Columbus State will be open for business in November of 2006. The DX is not your old college bookstore – we will still be the best at meeting students’ needs & expectations and then much more all taken to the next level. The DX is urban and sophisticated – with comfortable seating where you can enjoy a cappuccino and browse the NY Times best sellers, leading edge business books or the classics. The Convenience Store and Copy Center will be offering a wide range of products and services with extended hours with outsides service windows. There will be textbooks, supplies and a great selection of gifts, cards and clothing to make your busy life simple.

In each edition of the newsletter we will feature different areas in the DX and tell you in more detail what you can anticipate. We want to hear from you – tell us what products & services you would like to see in the store – please send your suggestions & comments to smuinex@cscc.edu.

Buy used calculators! And sell back your old ones!
Beginning Autumn Quarter of last year, your Columbus State Bookstore took over the calculator rental program from the Math Department. Since then, the demand for rental calculators has been so great that we’ve decided to transition to a used calculator program, and make college even more affordable for even more students! We’re adding a used calculator and buyback program to our long list of products and services, which means your bookstore is now buying back TI-83+ and TI-84+ graphing calculators. In addition to this great end-of-the-quarter bonus, students can now purchase used calculators for half the price of a new one! Our used TI-83+ calculator will sell for only $50 and our used TI-84+ is only $60. Stop in today and find out more about how we’re making college more affordable for more students every day!

Your bookstore offers a convenient website that provides you access to competitively priced textbooks, general merchandise, and valuable information.
